FRANKFORT, December 21.
After the death of the register, which we announced in our paper of the 7th instant, the governor made several nominations to the senate, of persons to fill that office—some of which were withdrawn, and others rejected. When three had been rejected, the governor sent the following message to the senate on the 13th, to which that body returned the following reply on the 16th, and the governor rejoined on the 19th, as will be found below.

MESSAGE TO THE SENATE.

The governor having made several nominations to the senate of persons in whom he thought full confidence might be placed for discharging with ability and integrity the duties of the register of the land office, and whom at the same time he considered to be possessed of the requisite degree of personal independence and firmness, to render that office as productive to the commonwealth as the laws intended it should be,—but not having at the same time been so fortunate as to meet with the approbation of the senate, finds himself at length compelled to inform the senate, that he will delay till a later day in the present session, making any further nomination of a person to fill that office.

JAMES GARRARD.
December 13th, 1833.

IN SENATE, December 16th, 1833.

The senate have considered with the greatest attention, the message from the governor of the 13th inst., containing his determination to postpone any further nomination of a person to fill the office of register of the land office, until a later day in the session, together with the reasons prefixed, which seem to have influenced him to come to such a determination.

The Constitution, section 9th, 3d article, declares that the governor "shall nominate and by and with the advice and consent of the senate, appoint all officers, whose offices are established by this constitution, or shall be established by law."—It is therefore clear, that it is the duty of the governor to nominate such persons as he may judge proper to fill any such office; and it is no less the duty of the senate to aid and execute their judgment in approving or disapproving of such person as their opinion of his fitness, capacity, or other qualifications, may direct. Should an opinion exist, that the senate ought to approve of every nomination that may be made by the governor, or to declare their reasons, why they do not approve of the same, all that part of the section before recited, will become nugatory and of none effect. Because many reasons may present themselves, to the senate for their disapproving of a nomination which the governor may incautiously make, and which it is no less their duty to exercise, without being compelled to publish at large their reasons for so doing. The senate conceive that this declaration is proper, as an intimation is expressed in the governor's message, that, "having made several nominations of persons in whom he thought full confidence might be placed for discharging with ability and integrity the duties of a register of the land office," thereby strongly implying, that the senate have not regarded either ability or integrity;—this intimation they pronounce unjust;—they have, as they declare they always will, exercise their judgment, and may reciprocate the expressions, that they have not been so fortunate as to have as yet acted on a nomination for the office in question, which they in their judgment thought it right to approve of. With equal propriety the senate might resolve, to postpone acting on any nomination laid before them, to an improper period of the session, to the great inconvenience and injury of the people;—yet it must be admitted that such conduct would be highly reprehensible, and a great departure from that duty which their constituents have a right to expect. The senate disclaim all intention of creating any irritation between the two branches of the government, or in any manner adopt a determination, which might wound the feelings, or interrupt the harmony which ought to exist in every part thereof; but they would be wanting to themselves, and would greatly betray the trust confided to them by their fellow citizens, were they to suffer insinuations like those herein before mentioned, to pass unnoticed;—for as they disclaim all right of dictating to the governor, in making his nominations, to will a due sense of their own importance, and in discharging the high trust equally vested in them, cause them to use and exercise their own independent opinion, in approving or disapproving of such nominations as they in their judgment shall think right.

Taking a view of the whole subject, it does not appear that the rejection of one or more nominations of the governor, ought to be a sufficient cause for his postponement of any further nomination of a register of the land office, more especially as the session is drawing to a close, and a proper person to fill that office is much wanted;—and by the 10th section of the 3d article of the constitution is provided that "the governor shall have power to fill vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate," and therefore as the vacancy happened during the session, that office can only be filled when the senate is in session, and should a delay on the part of the governor prevent the appointment of a register in the constitutional way, they trust and hope they have discharged their duty to themselves and to their constituents.

Read twice, and unanimously concurred in.

Extra, &c. Attest,
CHRISTO. GREENUP, C. S.

December 19th, 1833.

It was not without a considerable degree of surprise and regret, that the governor perused the address which was on the 16th inst. presented to him from the senate.

He was surprised to find that his message of the 13th instant, should have been construed by the senate, to contain insinuations derogating from the wisdom and integrity of that body,—conscious as he is to himself that no such insinuation was intended, and satisfied as he likewise is, on reviewing his message, that no just and natural construction of the expressions contained in it, will warrant any such interpretation of his meaning. The constitution is sufficiently explicit, in defining the duties of the governor and the senate, in filling all offices in the government, which are not otherwise provided for in that instrument. The former is to nominate, and the latter is to approve, or disapprove and there the matter ends with every nomination. Such has been the course on the present occasion, nor has the governor thought it consistent either with his duty or station, to enquire into the reasons which have influenced the senate in disapproving his nominations. Though happy at all times to obtain the best information which can be afforded, respecting characters fitted to be employed in public stations; he regards it likewise as his duty to exercise his own judgment in nominating persons for the approbation of the senate, and in forming that judgment, to be guided not by a regard to the personal situation or interest of the individuals who come forward, but by their fitness in every point of view, to fill an office with credit to themselves and with satisfaction and advantage to the public.

The unexpected difference of opinion between the governor and the senate, which disclosed itself on the present occasion, was altogether unexpected by him; nor was he prepared for failing in so many attempts to provide a register of the land office, to make another nomination immediately.—He found it necessary therefore, and he deemed it highly proper to take sufficient time to enquire after such characters as would in his own opinion, justify a further nomination,—and that respect which he has on all occasions manifested towards the senate, taught him that it was equally proper to inform them of his intentions.—In the address which the senate has been pleased to lay before the governor, it is observed, that "with equal propriety might the senate resolve to postpone any nomination laid before them to an improper period of the session, to the great inconvenience and injury of the people; yet it must be admitted that such conduct would be highly reprehensible and a great departure from that duty which their constituents have a right to expect." Yet surely the propriety and the criminality of delay, whether on the part of the governor, or the senate, must depend on the circumstances of the case, and on the motives by which they are actuated; nor can it be doubted but that in a variety of instances, precipitation would be more culpable and more permanently injurious to the public than delay. In what cases it will be to the governor and the senate must severally be judges for themselves,—being severally responsible for their conduct to their own consciences and to their country. That the senate have frequently considered it as right to postpone acting upon the nominations of the governor for many days and even weeks, they will immediately recollect on casting an eye over the journals of former sessions. At the last session several nominations were presented on the 11th and 26th of November, but were never acted upon by the senate until the 11th of December; and yet the governor never conceived that this delay resulted from impure motives, or was an intimation on the part of the senate, that talents and integrity were not duly regarded by the executive in the nominations which he made. He always thought and he still thinks, that the senate ought to examine into the fitness of the persons nominated to them, and to take so much time as may be sufficient to afford complete satisfaction to their own minds. But at the same time, whilst he acknowledges their rights, he will assert his own; satisfied that in asserting those rights, he only discharges that duty which he owes to the people, and preserves inviolate that constitution which they have established as the bulwark of liberty, of property, and of order.—Were he without reflection—without consulting the convictions of his own mind; to nominate from day to day every character that may be presented to his notice, as proper to fill any vacant office; the spirit of the constitution would be departed for ever, nothing but its lifeless form would remain,—the right and the duty of nominating would be but an empty name—and should the virtue now existing in the senate be succeeded by a spirit of intrigue and corruption, some future faction within the walls of the senate would ineffectually monopolize the right, both of nominating, approving and appointing to all public offices.

Most heartily does the governor unite with the senate in wishing to avoid creating any irritation between the two departments of government. Nothing was more foreign from his intentions, than to insinuate any thing which should detract from the respectability of the senate, in a message which was designed merely to develop the principles on which his nominations had been founded, and to apprise the senate of the difficulties which really pressed upon his mind, in consequence of the repeated failure of his attempts to fill with advantage the vacant office. If any jealousies have unfortunately arisen he trusts that they will now subside, and he feels happy in being at this time able to make another nomination of a person to fill the office of register.

JAMES GARRARD.

Monday last the governor nominated Gen. John Adair as a proper person to fill the office of register of the land office, vice Edmund Thomas, deceased.—which nomination the Senate immediately took into consideration and confirmed. Gen. Adair immediately resigned his seat as a representative in the legislature, and took the oath of office. The seat of speaker being vacated by the general's resignation, the house proceeded to the choice of a speaker, when William Logan, esq. had a majority of votes, and took the chair.

December 28.

Monday morning last the governor received from the president of the United States, the amendments to the constitution, offered by congress to the several states, which he immediately laid before the legislature—who passed a law the same day, giving their assent to its incorporation in the constitution.

NEW-YORK, Dec. 10.

By the arrival of the ship Favorite, in 35 days from Liverpool, we have been put in possession of the Liverpool papers to the 3d of November, inclusive, containing London dates to the 1st; being, we believe, the latest received in town. These papers contain intelligence of a highly interesting nature; they detail the principal occurrences in the different nations of Europe, their situations, the operations of the belligerent powers, preparations for attack on the part of France, and defence, on the part of the United Kingdoms.

The threatened invasion has not yet been attempted, but various movements of the French troops, the positive orders to General Officers to repair to their respective ports, the state of forwardness in which gun-boats are, and a combination of circumstances lead us to suppose that the moment is not far distant, when the blow will be struck, which will put an end to the existence or independence of Great Britain, or establish her power upon such a basis, as the lapse of ages cannot undermine.

The United Kingdoms, unappalled by the threats and preparations of their implacable foe, proudly conscious of their strength, and secure as to the issue of any attempt of invasion, at the same time that they neglect no means of defence, and exhibit the appearance of a nation in arms, are actively engaged in finding out new channels of commerce, to dispose of their manufactures and colonial productions. While thus pursuing the arts of peace amidst the din of war,

France, actuated by a thirst for glory and the hopes of plunder, and led on by Bonaparte, has sworn to humble her hated rival or perish in the attempt.—She spares no expense, and appears to think lightly of the sacrifice in the prosecution of this design; eager to injure Britain by every method in her power, she has provided an army of 40,000 men for the subjugation of

Portugal the government of which anxious to avert or protract the impending blow, has entered into negotiation, in which

Spain takes an active part. From the present disposition, of her masters it appears impossible that she can remain much longer neutral. Her ancient spirit gone, her Councils under the control of France, her immense treasures arrived, urged by Britain to declare her intentions and pressed by France to enter into the war, her only hopes of peace rest in the result of her proposals to Russia to act as mediator.—She finding it for her interest to remain neutral during the present war, has hitherto remained friendly with all the belligerent powers. At present however a coolness exists between her ambassador, count Marcoff, and the court of the Tuilleries. Her once formidable rival

Turkey is fast verging towards annihilation; her fair province, Egypt, is with the exception of Alexandria, which was surrounded and has offered to capitulate, intirely in possession of the Mamelukes, in other provinces unaffected by the standard of rebellion, to which thousands of deluded wretches flock, and who, when attacked by superior numbers, are defeated by their leaders, and pay with their heads the price of their disobedience.

Of the other nations of Europe, who are either wrapped in profound peace or attached to the powers of war, nothing merits particular notice.

NATCHEZ, December 5.

On Thursday last, a detachment of the Natchez Company of Artillery, commanded by Lieut. Kerr, Capt. Duncan's company of infantry and Capt. company of riflemen, the whole under the command of Capt. Duncan, marched into town from their rendezvous at Washington, and immediately embarked on board the schooner Bilboa, for New-Orleans.

His excellency Gov. Claiborne, (who has been appointed by the President of the United States, one of the commissioners for receiving Louisiana, and also Governor and Intendant of the same under the act of Congress of the 28th of October last) left this city for New-Orleans on Friday morning, escorted by the Adams troop of horse, commanded by Capt. Farrar.

This detachment will join those of the United States troops at Fort Adams, intended for duty at New-Orleans—and it is expected that the whole will move immediately.

Letters by Saturday's mail were received in this city from New-Orleans, mentioning the arrival of general Wilkinson at that place on the 26th ult. who was saluted by the cannon of the fort, and the display of the colors of the American shipping in port.

Other letters (of the 28th ult.) state that every arrangement had taken place, for the delivery of the province to M. Lauffat, the Colonial Prefect; that the French flag was to be displayed the next day;—and that a prompt delivery would take place, to the American commissioners, without a shadow of opposition.

RALEIGH, Dec. 5.

A bed of Gold Ore has been lately discovered in Cabbarus county, in this state, in a creek running through the land of Mr. John Reed, a native of Hesse Cassel, in Germany, which promises to be a source of great riches to the proprietor. The metal was first found by two or three children of Mr. Reed, who were fishing.—They brought a few pieces home to their father as a curiosity, ignorant of its value. On examination, the ore was found not only to be gold, but gold of a very pure quality. Since this discovery, these little boys have picked up daily from 100 to 120 penny weights (worth upwards of £.20 sterling) but the proprietor has lately found a lump of the ore of twenty-eight pounds wt. which, it is supposed, fluxed will yield 27 pounds of pure gold, and is worth upwards of 5,600 dollars! These facts are assured to us by one of the members of our general assembly from Cabbarus, now in this city, who has in his possession two specimens of this precious metal, one as it is found and the other as it is purified.

FOR SALE,

At a reduced price in Cash and personal property at valuation, the following

Lands,

400 acres entered for John May, on the north side of the Kentucky river, and lower side of Cedar creek.

30 acres, part of 40, entered by Geo. May, on the salt lick, on Sandy.

216 1-4 acres half of 433 1-2 entered by John May, around the last entry.

250 acres, half of 500, entered, May 1780, by George May, near Lydia's Mount.

400 acres, half of 800, in the name of Isaac Shelby, adjoining the last—entered June 23, 1780.

About 30 acres, being that part of John May's entry of 1000, including the confluence of the South fork with Main Licking, which lies within the forks, and including a part of the town of Falmouth.

666 2-3 acres, part of Samuel Meredith's 1000, in the forks of Licking, adjoining the last entry, and including the remainder of Falmouth—Patented 10th July, 1786.

1333 1-3 acres, part of Samuel Meredith's & George Clymer's 2000 acres, on Bank Lick creek—Patented 14th November, 1786.

266 2-3 acres part of Samuel Meredith's and George Clymer's 400, north side of Licking, and joining John May's 1000 before mentioned.

1000 acres, entered for Ben. Holliday, on Battle creek, adjoining John Saunders.

1000 acres, entered for John May, north side of the Rolling fork of Salt river, joining George Underwood, and including the mouth of Wilfon's creek.

The claims to the above parcels of land are deduced, by private contracts, from the persons for whom they were located.

GEO. M. BIBB.

Lexington, Jan. 3, 1804. tf.

30 Dollars Reward.

AN away from the subscriber, living in Sumner county, state of Tennessee, a Mulatto Fellow named John, who, since started, calls himself a freeman, named Jack Sweet or Sweetman, about five feet five or six inches high, between twenty-five and thirty years old, though from appearance would be thought not to exceed twenty; of a thin visage, tolerable thick and well made, only somewhat bow legged, his hair straight, and his colour near that of a half breed Indian. Had on when he went off an old light coloured drab great coat, a cloth waistcoat of the same colour, a short horseman's coat of a claret colour, a tolerable good fur hat, moccasins made of tanned leather, and a shirt and overalls of tow linen. Says that he has been in the army for several years, and pretends to talk Indian. He went off on the 4th inst. and on the Monday week following was seen crossing the river on the road from Nolin to Baldtown; but it is expected that his object will be to cross the Ohio into the Indiana Territory, under an idea that he can there pass for a freeman. Whoever secures said fellow in any jail, shall have the above reward, and if brought home, all reasonable charges paid beside.

"True to his charge—
"He comes, the Herald of a noisy world,
"News from all nations lumbering at his back."

LEXINGTON, JANUARY 3.

It is a custom almost universally prevalent with News Printers, to address their Subscribers at the commencement of every year—the object of which is, to inform them, that the labourer is worthy of his hire. The Editor of this paper has no wish to be thought troublesome; nor would he assume the character of a dun, although sanctioned by custom, did not imperious necessity compel him. He will, however, only now state a few facts, to show the necessity of punctuality on the part of his Subscribers:—The Cash expenses of his establishment, amount to about fifty dollars per week, exclusive of Paper. To procure a supply of paper, a considerable sum must be advanced, during the winter, whilst the mill is at work, to lay in a stock for the whole year. The price of the Gazette was reduced to two dollars, as an inducement to subscribers to advance that sum, for the purpose of securing an amount sufficient to meet the demand for Paper—of course, those who fail to make this advance, do not contribute to that important object, in the same proportion with those who comply. To place his subscribers nearer on an equality in their relations to himself, the Editor now gives notice, that those who do not make the advance for the present year, before the first of March, will be indiscriminately charged two dollars and a half. This addition cannot be thought unreasonable, when the above circumstances are taken into view, and when it is recollected, that every person is not only at liberty, but earnestly solicited, to pay the two dollars in advance.

He begs leave to return his most sincere thanks to his Patrons, for the support they have so liberally given him. How far he has merited that support, is not for him to say; but the continued increase of subscribers, is the most pleasing criterion by which he can form an opinion;—and he pledges himself, that his exertions to continue the Gazette in the rank it now occupies, shall not be relaxed.

Those who receive their papers by Mail, are requested to call at the different Post-Offices, where they will find their accounts.

The subscribers to the Medley are informed, that it will be no longer published—the twelfth number which was issued on Tuesday last, completed the volume. Those who wish to preserve their copies, can have them bound on reasonable terms, and any parts lost or destroyed will be replaced at 6d. a number. A few sets complete, may be had on the same terms.

On Tuesday last the Legislature of this state adjourned. During their session they passed the following laws.

AN act allowing clerks of the county courts a compensation for their services on criminal prosecutions—Approved Dec. 17.

AN ACT

CONCERNING DRILL MUSTERS.

WHEREAS, That part of the Militia Law directing drill musters, is differently construed: Therefore,

Sec. 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly, That it shall be the duty of the commandants of the several regiments in this state, to continue the officers at their several drill musters, in service for three days successively. Provided nevertheless, those officers who in the opinion of any commandant, may be properly disciplined, may sooner be discharged.

Sec. 2. Be it further enacted, That subalterns shall appear in uniform, as other officers are now directed by law.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That any drum and fife-major shall be hereafter allowed any sum not exceeding two dollars for each day they shall be employed in the discharge of their respective duties, at the discretion of the courtmartial.

And all non-commissioned officers shall report upon oath, to the commanding officers of their respective companies, the names of the men they have warned or summoned to attend such musters or court-martials, previous to such musters or courtmartial.

This act shall be in force from its passage.

By the Governor,

HARRY TOULMIN, Sec'y.

On the 5th December the president of the United States sent a message to congress, communicating a list of American seamen impressed by other powers, from which we extract the following—

Summary of impressments by the British from American vessels:

Forty-three impressments of citizens of the United States appear to have been made, of whom twelve had protections.

Ten natives of the British dominions, and not stated to be naturalized as American citizens: and Seventeen of all other countries, who are not stated to have been naturalized in the United States.

Summary of impressments by the agents of other powers, from American vessels.

Two, by the agents of France,

One, by the agents of the Batavian republic.

The president informed the house of representatives on the 19th ult. that he had signed the act repealing the act establishing a uniform system of Bankruptcy throughout the United States.

WASHINGTON CITY, Dec. 21.

LOUISIANA.

By the last mail government has received dispatches from New Orleans, dated as late as the 29th ult. by which it appears, that Mr. Landais, who was charged with the original orders to Mr. Laussat to receive Louisiana from Spain, arrived there late on the 25th ult. and that the 30th at noon was appointed by the Spanish and French commissioners as the time for the delivery on the part of France.

IMPORTANT AND VALUABLE INSTRUCTIONS

ARE now to be procured, on fair and reasonable terms, in the Tanning, Distilling, and Soap-making businesses; by which the tanning process will be shortened from fifteen months and two years, to twenty-one and thirty-one days for the heaviest skins, accompanied with a considerable saving of bark and labour, all lighter skins in a proportioned time. The distilling plan and instructions will show how to procure three gallons of pure spirits, and sometimes more, from every bushel of assorted grain and malt that will be used, and that of considerably better quality and flavour than is now obtained in the common way, seldom exceeding two gallons and more frequently under. The soap-making instructions will save seven eighths of the tallow, substituting other materials, that in certain situations will cost little or nothing.

For further particulars apply personally or by letter, post paid, to Joseph Charles, printer, Lexington.

MARY'S EVENING SIGH.

By Robert Bloomfield.

WITH lovely pearl the western sky
Is glowing far and wide;
And yon light golden clouds that fly,
So slowly slide by slide;
The deepening tints, the arch of light,
E'en I with rapture see:
And sigh, and bless the charming sight
That lures my love from me.

O hill! that shad'st the valley here,
Thou bear'st on thy green brow
The only wealth to Mary dear,
And all she'll ever know.
Full in the crimson light I see
Above the summit rise
My Edward's form; he looks to me
A statue in the skies.

Descend, my love, the hour is come;
Why linger on the hill?
The sun hath left my quiet home,
But thou can'st see him still:
Yet, why a lonely wanderer stray?
Alone the joy pursue?
The glories of the closing day
Can charm thy Mary too.

O Edward! when we stroll'd along
Beneath the waving corn,
And both confess'd the power of song,
And blest the dewy morn:
To thy fond words my heart reply'd,
(My presence then could move).
How sweet with Mary by my side
"To gaze and talk of love."

Thou art not false...that cannot be!
Yet I my rivals deem
Each woodland charm, the moss, the tree,
The silence, and the stream.
If these, my love, detain thee now,
I'll yet forgive thy stay;
But with to-morrow's dawn come thou—
We'll brush the dews away.

"Trifles, light as air."

A country blacksmith coming into a farmer's yard with a hammer in his hand, was suddenly surprised by a severe bite from a snarling dog, which so irritated him, that he immediately retaliated upon his enemy with his heavy weapon, with the sharp end of which he killed him on the spot. "You might," said the person who owned the animal, "have struck him with the other end of the hammer." "That I would," said the other, "had he only bit me with the other end of his teeth."

CONVEYANCING.

WILLIAM TODD,

TAKES the liberty of informing the inhabitants of Lexington, and the public in general that he will draw and complete Deeds of Conveyance, Mortgages, Letters of Attorney, Leases, Bonds, Wills, and Agreements of every description, on reasonable terms, at the Clerk's Office of the Fayette Circuit Court; and if necessary, will certify any instrument as Notary Public.

Lexington, Nov. 8th, 1803.

JOHN POPE,

HAS removed to Lexington, and will PRACTICE LAW in the General Court, and in the Fayette, Jefferson, Clarke, Bourbon, Montgomery and Madison Circuit Courts.

November 10th, 1803.

Fayette County, Kentucky, etc.

AT a court held for said county, on Monday the 12th day of December, 1803, a petition was presented to the said court, in the following words:—

"TO THE HONORABLE, THE COURT OF FAYETTE."

"The want of an uniformity of weights and measures for this town and county, hath induced the trustees for the town of Lexington, to appoint your petitioner, to provide and keep a complete set of weights and measures, as standards for their market. In compliance with his instructions, he has secured a full set, and has had them sealed by the state, as the law directs. To give additional efficacy to the resolves of the trustees, your petitioner humbly prays, that your Honors will appoint him to seal the weights and measures of this county, according to the act of assembly, &c. and as in duty bound, will ever pray."

"NAT. PRENTISS."

Lex. 12th December, 1803.

The court received the said petition, and ordered that the said Nathaniel Prentiss, be appointed keeper of the weights and measures for this county, agreeable to said petition, and an act of assembly, passed December 11th, 1800, concerning weights and measures, extracts of which are hereunto annexed.

LEVI TODD, C. F. C.

EXTRACTS.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That said weights, measures, and scales, shall be kept, by such person in each county, as the court of the said county shall appoint, and immediately after such appointment, the clerk shall make known by advertisement, to be fixed up at the door of the court-house; and all persons desirous of trying their weights and measures, may resort to the aforesaid county standard for that purpose; and the person appointed to keep the said standards shall, if he find them true, seal them with a seal, to be provided by the county court, at the expense of the county; and the persons appointed in the several counties to keep the standards, shall be entitled for trying every article and certifying thereof, twenty five cents, and for trying any weight or measure and sealing the same, twelve and an half cents, for each measure sealed, to be paid by the person for whom such service shall be done.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That three months after the appointment of a person, shall be made known as aforesaid, every person who shall knowingly buy, or who shall sell any commodity whatever, by weight, or measure, that doth not correspond with the said county standards, or shall keep any such for the purpose of buying or selling by him, shall for every such offence, forfeit and pay four dollars, to go towards lessening the county levy, and to be recovered before any justice of the peace, for the county in which such offence shall be committed.

The inhabitants of the town of Lexington in particular, are informed, that at the end of six months from the date hereof, the keeper of the standard of weights and measures, for the county of Fayette, and town aforesaid, will proceed to execute that clause of the seventh ordinance of their trustees, passed the 21st October, 1800, which is in the words following:—

"It shall be his (the standard keeper's) duty, twice a year, & at such other times as shall be deemed necessary, to examine all the weights and measures within this town, and adjust and stamp the same. And every weight or measure, which shall be used without being stamped, for the purpose of vending any article within this town, after the first day of January next, shall be forfeited, and the owner fined in not less than one, nor more than three dollars, the one half to be appropriated to the use of the town, and the other to the clerk."

The public may be supplied with weights and measures, by applying to the subscriber, on Main Cross Street, near Mr. John Lowrey's Hat Manufactory.

WILLIAM WEST.

BROWN AND WEST'S PATENT

WOODEN STILL

HAVE been in use for some time, in the vicinity of Lexington, and have received the most unequivocal approbation from more than two hundred Practical Distillers, whose certificates could be easily procured.

Any common carpenter or cooper can construct a still on this plan, in three or four days, and the cost of stills which will contain 500 gallons, will not exceed 100 dollars.

Spirit (of big proof and free from all disagreeable taste) is produced by one operation, which saves the expense and trouble of doubling.

These stills work more than three times as fast as the common stills and require a very small quantity of fuel.

Gentlemen, who are desirous of purchasing the Patent Right for states, counties or single distilleries, will please to apply to the Patentees in Lexington, Kentucky.

The price of Rights to individuals 50 dollars.

BEES-WAX,

WANTED at the Store of

SEITZ & JOHNSON, Lexington.

Dec. 10, 1803.

THE subscriber returns his most sincere thanks to his friends and the public at large, for the encouragement he has received in the prosecution of his business, and takes this method to inform those who may wish to employ him, that he still continues to carry on the Well Digging business in its various branches, both for Fresh and Salt Water, and hopes that his experience in the digging one hundred and eighty odd wells, will entitle him to future encouragement from the public. He has a valuable Stone Quarry, open in the vicinity of Lexington, where he will have always on hand for the next season, suitable stones for any parts of building in plain work. Those who apply shall be served at the shortest notice, with punctuality.—He will give good encouragement to two or three hands who understand blowing rocks.

JOHN R. SHAW.

Lex. Dec. 1, 1803.

John Robert Shaw, who now excels, in blowing rocks and digging wells; Can water find by the new art, As well the fresh, so well the salt.

Since conjurers became so wise, In telling where salt water lies; In hopes I shall not be forsook, I've try'd the art of Mr. Cook.

And to my friends I do declare, A witch I never was before. Before my master doth get rich, Come unto me, the art I'll teach.

No stipend of my friend I take, I'll shew them all for friendship's sake; Then all that wish to dig salt wells, May easily learn that Shaw excels.

20 DOLLARS REWARD.
